"One, two, three! One, two, three!" counted the dancing teacher, while a straggling, many footed, line of pupils squirmed in more or less successful imitation behind her.

"Aw, gee!" said Kendall to the boy in front of him. "Don't you hate it?" 'Sure," responded the boy in front. kicking the heels of the boy in front of him, who shrilled "Ouch!"

"Boys," chanted the teacher, "attention, please. Now, all together! One, two, three! One, two, three!" "Say, Bill," said Kendall to the boy in front, "does your mother make you

"You know it," said Bill. "Does yours?"

"Betcherlife," returned Kendall. 'Do you think I'd come if she didn't?" "Take partners and waltz," cried the teacher, rhythmically, laying firm hands upon the boy behind her and bearing him off, his large, unwilling feet dragging behind him.

Kendall seized Billy by the sleeve. "Let's duck," he whispered. "Here comes that pesky Dorothy. I bet she's going to ask me to dance with
